

Garry, M., Manning, C.G., Loftus, E.F., & Sherman, S.J. (1996). Imagination inflation: Imagining a childhood event inflates confidence that it occurred. Psychonomic Bulletin & Review, 3, 208-211.

Gender Differences in Depression

Susan Nolen-Hoeksema<sup>1</sup>

...the same stressors, women may be more likely than men to develop
...stressors

Chronic Strains

Women face a number of chronic strains that are not posttraumatic stress disorder (Breslau, Davis, Andreski, Peterson, &...

...of

tional attitudes. Those studies that do find gender differences, however, tend to show that girls have poorer self-concepts than boys. Again, positive self-concept...

